Art Unit: 2833

1. The terminal disclaimer filed August 6, 2004 is improper because the patent being disclaimed has not been improperly identified.

2. Claims 1-12 remain rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-12 of U.S. Patent No. 6339201. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the only substantive difference between the claims is the use of screw terminals in the third rocker section. Applicant has convincingly argued that such terminals are so common as to be understood to be usable in the present device without explicit instructions in the specification. It is therefore seen that one of average skill in the art would have known about such terminals, their uses and advantages, and would have used them in appropriate places such as the third rocker section, especially given their use in other rocker sections of the device.

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
